Please note: If there is a weather related closure on any day of finals, finals will all be delayed a day.

- If there is a weather related closure on December 20, all four A day finals will be scheduled on December 21 and all B day finals will be taken on December 22. Students will have four final periods each day which will last 90 minutes and make ups will have to be arranged on an individual basis with the classroom teacher (that way we will not extend the semester over break).
- If there is a weather related closure on December 21, we will take the exams scheduled for that day on December 22. The A3 and B3 final exams would be taken on January 3. There would be a 30 minute review in A3 class to start the day on January 3, students would then take their A3 final, then go to their B3 class for a 30 minute review, and then take their B3 finals. The afternoon will be open for make up exams.
- If there is a weather related closure on December 22, the Block A3 and Block B3 exam would be taken on January 3 and we would follow the schedule outlined in the bullet point above.
- If there are two days of inclement weather (for example, closure on December 20 and December 21), finals will be moved to January. We would have all four A day finals on December 22, have B day classes on January 3 for review purposes, and have all B day finals on January 4.
- If there is a weather related late start any day, the finals schedule will begin at 10 a.m. and be adjusted accordingly with the make-up exam periods being canceled for the day in question. Any make up exams will have to be arranged on an individual basis with the classroom teacher.
- If we have an early release due to weather on December 20 or December 21, the final that is missed would be rescheduled for Friday afternoon. For example, if we have an early release on December 20, the exam missed would be rescheduled for the same time on December 22 during the make-up exam time. Any exams that need to be made up would then need to be scheduled individually by the student with his or her teacher.

Students only need to be present when they are taking exams. For example, students don't need to be here during periods they have senior release or serve as a teaching assistant.

In order to maintain a quiet, testing environment during exams, students must remain in the class for the FULL 90 MINUTES.

Students will be allowed to study quietly in the commons at any time, where teachers will act as resources for various content areas.

Students will have open campus for lunch during finals week.
